The app's interface doesn't look like a real app. The recently revamped interface is also customizable and includes a new news feed feature. Please try again later. We are excited to announce the immediate availability of a new feature in Respo! Imagine Is there something in your life that you don't have enough of? Maybe it's a house, a car, a great job, a great relationship... anything at all. Imagine if you didn't have any of these things, and you could create them out of nothing. That's what Imagination is all about. To create something from nothing. What do you dream of? That's what Imagination is all about. To create something from nothing. The Vision With the imagination feature you can build anything you can imagine. You can have it all, but first you have to have it in your imagination. You can now give your dreams the reality they deserve. Experience Imagine using Respo to build something you can't even imagine. Using the imagination feature and 3D imagery you can build anything you can imagine. The possibilities are limited only by your imagination! I have to say I am confused by this My question is about my son. He will be nine years old soon. I had a friend of a friend who is going to be pregnant again. I get this information from this friend and she is due at the end of October. My son is going to be a year and a half when her son is born. So when I get this info from her, I thought it was so funny cause my son would be 1,5 years older than this friend's son. I think I am not going to tell my son this information. I want to see what he will think about it. I also know it is a superstitious thing to do, but I just want to know what he is going to think about this. Comments (52) I think it is fine to tell your son. As for superstitious, I think so. My son, who is 11 months old now is very smart. 82157476af
